

While we have used our reasonable efforts to ensure the accuracy of the data used in this website, data should be read as indicative of magnitude rather than exact figures. We have avoided extrapolations, which would show estimated data for CDC's entire portfolio, in order to keep quoted figures as close as possible to the information we have received from our investment partners.

Data is provided to CDC by its investment partners, including the fund managers that have invested our capital (and the capital of others), and has not been audited or independently verified by CDC.

Data reporting is expanding in scope and completeness across CDC's portfolio, but prior to 2012 data on employment and taxes was not written into all legal agreements and therefore the completeness of reporting can vary. As CDC's legacy portfolio of pre-2012 investments decreases in size, we expect the quantity of data received from our investment partners to improve.